David,

I now see from your signature line that you're at the Office of Ecosystems, Tribal and Public Affairs. While not directly focused on water quality trading, the tribes have expressed interest in water quality trading in the past as a tool to accelerate restoration of rivers. Perhaps our paths will cross again soon.

In the meantime, you're no doubt knee-deep in the human health criteria. Good times.

Cheers,

Joe

Joe – I started a new position outside of the regional counsel’s office last week. I’ve got a bunch of interesting topics in my new bailiwick, but water quality trading is not amongst them. Cara Steiner-Riley has been selected to fill my old position in ORC; she starts June 24. Kelly will continue to be your best sounding board on this effort. Thanks.
