Claire, yes, I am excited about working with you again and learning how this has progressed over the years. I am finishing up on a few things before I start my two week vacation this coming Friday. After the new year I will be studying up on this and ready to contribute.

Subject: Heard the good news I get to work with you again!

Hi Chae,

Jeff K. just emailed me that he asked you to represent OCE on the new water quality trading project, and I think that is great news! I know you will be excited to learn in more detail how far we've come with water quality trading since the Lower Boise but that is just with temperature. This project will also be taking on phosphorus and other nutrient trading, so I know many of the issues will be the same. Other members of the EPA team are Susan Poulosom and Bill Stewart. We aren't going to ask ORC to assign anyone but who knows, I may have had Keith working on this again too!

Anyhow, I assume Jeff shared with you all the information about the regional project that I gave him, but if not, let me know. And if you want other background information about the Oregon model we are following - i.e., the Medford permit, let me know and I can send you some more on that as well. Either way, let's chat when you have a chance. In the meantime, I will be setting up a half-day meeting in January with the Willamette Partnership, so that they can learn more about EPA's goals, concerns and questions for this project and water quality trading in general. I hope your Lotus Notes calendar reflects your availability because I will be relying on that to narrow down some dates.

And once again, I hope you are as excited about working with me again as I am with you!
