Claire:

I'm sure this is on your list, but VA's program is one that I see as well thought out, expressed under a general permit for the state's rivers within the Chesapeake basin. I usually (never) review permits, so I do not know of others I can recommend based on the permit itself.

Hi Amelia & Bob,

We're in the middle of our series of workshops to explore "best practices" for water quality trading frameworks with three of our states and led by Bobby Cochran of the Willamette Partnership. Bobby would like me to find permits in other parts of the US with trading language in them that we could look at, more current than what's in the Permit Writer's Toolkit. I found in my electronic files an FY11 spreadsheet of regions reporting by facility name which permits have trading in them, but I'm wondering if either of you have copies of any permits you recommend we look at, as well as a more current listing than FY11.

Thanks for your help!

- Claire

Hi Claire,

I vaguely seem to remember seeing a number of years ago a spreadsheet of NPDES permits with trading in them. I also seem to remember you saying you had to report to HQ in how many permits with trading you had in your region. Ring any bells?

Know where I might be able to get that list, so we can pull all or some of those permits to inform the next workshop on compliance? Thanks!

Bobby
