It's hard to predict how this budget battle is going to end up but even with just a Continuing Resolution they were saying essential travel only. Our budget problems for this fiscal year will definitely go through Oct. However, I should point out that I can take a government car to Portland and that doesn't hit our budget (I don't know where the bill goes) – just the hotel cost and per diem are the issue. Flying to Boise is also a problem.

That's really good to know Claire. Is that going to be true regardless of whether it's the April, July, August, or October meeting, or just for this one?

Hi Carrie,

Covering my travel costs would be an issue – this sequestration threat is causing a severe reduction in our travel budget so that only essential travel is being approved. It also means you wouldn't get more than one EPA person there (unless you are OK with participation via phone).

Hi,

We weren't able to reserve our favorite Seattle-area location for the first workshop, and with the dates quickly approaching, we have been checking out some places in the Portland area, which we are more familiar with.

I just wanted to check in and see if you all would still be able to make the first workshop, April 10-11th if it were held in Portland?

Thanks

Carrie
