Carrie,

Here are my brief comments on the last two documents I had to review – the April meeting summary and the Draft Guiding Principles. I have only one comment on each. For the meeting notes, I want a little more explanation of what we were looking for in “more robust” NRCS standards, to avoid misinterpretation as a criticism of NRCS standards. In the Guiding Principles document, I suggest a word to be added to make a sentence in the last paragraph on the first page read properly.

Good morning!

Attached are documents representing the follow-up from Workshop #1. Please review and send us your feedback by Wednesday, 5/22. All documents are posted on the project website.

Here's what we have:

- Final Meeting Summary - incorporating feedback from the version distributed on 4/19
- Revised draft of the JRA 2-pager with tracked changes
- Revised draft of the Guiding Principles with tracked changes
- Draft Best Practices from Workshop #1 - these represent our best attempt to synthesize points of consensus we heard on the Workshop #1 topics during and since the workshop. The intention is that we continue to revise this document until all are satisfied and we can consider upgrading them to Pilot Best Practices come November.

As usual, I have included only the core project team on this email so that you may distribute within your agency as most appropriate. Please follow up with questions, and enjoy your weekend.

Finally - for those participating in the BMP call next week - please look for an agenda and brief materials from me by this afternoon.

Best,
Carrie
